

Learning Goals for the Classical Languages Major

Students will be able to

1. Communicate
 - a. At the superior level in interpretive reading in Latin and/or Greek;
 - b. At the advanced high level in presentational writing in Latin and/or Greek;
 - c. Skillfully in English.
2. Demonstrate knowledge about the literature of ancient Mediterranean societies and one of the following areas:
 - a. History,
 - b. Art history/material culture, and
 - c. Philosophy;
3. Apply critical analysis and aesthetic appreciation; and
4. Explore modes of religious experience in the ancient world by reading religious texts (such as the New Testament or Augustine) in the original language.

Alignment with Academic Learning Goals

Graduates will	1	2	3	4
Demonstrate an integrative knowledge of the human and natural worlds;		X
Develop habits of critical analysis and aesthetic appreciation;			X
Apply creative and innovative thinking;
Communicate skillfully in multiple forms of expression;	X
Act competently in a global and diverse world;
Understand and promote social justice;
Apply a framework for examining ethical dilemmas;
Employ leadership and collaborative skills;
Understand the religious dimensions of human experience.				X

Alignment with Assessment Measures

Measure	1	2	3	4
Capstone Project	Direct	Direct	Direct	Direct
Senior Exit Interviews	Indirect	Indirect	Indirect	Indirect