

Cutting to the Common Core:
Common Core Standards
for Mathematics
Grades 6-8

July 28, 29, 30, 2014

Instructor: Fred Dillon

Middle School Mathematics Specialist

Are you looking for help in understanding and implementing the Common Core Standards' Statistics and Probability domain in grades 6-8? Then this workshop is for YOU!

Participants will:

- Participants will take a closer look at the Common Core content standards and what they entail at each grade level as well as learning progressions across grade levels
- Experience activities that exemplify both the content standards and standards for mathematical practice
- Examine additional resources for deeper teaching and deeper understanding
- Consider how Ohio's model curriculum can support implementation of the CCSSM in your classroom
- Examine the PARCC assessment framework and sample items from PARCC,

Receive a copy of Bridging the Gap between Teaching Statistics and the Common Core State Standards, a publication of 20 statistics and probability activities for the middle grades as well as lots of resources including classroom-ready activities.

Location: All summer sessions run from 8:30 am until 3:30 pm and are held on the campus of John Carroll University.

Cost: The cost for the 4 day workshop and all materials is $250 per person. Lunch Included. Early registration is encouraged.

Non-degree graduate credit (optional): 1 credit hour @ $160 per hour. More information on graduate credit will be offered on the first day of the course.
