Video-Editing, Podcasts, Wikispaces, SKYPE, Blogs,
Google Docs & More

FOR TEACHERS OF ALL GRADE LEVELS AND SUBJECT AREAS

NO EXPERIENCE WITH TECHNOLOGY NEEDED

June 16-19 or July 21-24 or August 4-7, 2014

According to the Partnership for 21st Century Skills:

“People in the 21st century live in a technology and media-driven environment, marked by access to an abundance of information, rapid changes in technology tools and the ability to collaborate and make individual contributions on an unprecedented scale. To be effective in the 21st century, citizens and workers must be able to exhibit a range of functional and critical thinking skills, such as Information Literacy, Media Literacy and ICT (Information, Communications and Technology) Literacy.”

In order to prepare a technologically literate society, teachers must model the effective and practical uses of technology with students, parents and society. Effective uses of instructional technologies allow the teacher to break down the walls of the classroom, to access a wealth of information, to share ideas, to communicate with parents, and involve experts in their students' learning.

Topics Covered in this 4-Day Workshop Include:

- Wikispaces, BLOGS and Classroom Websites – Design your own classroom website!
- Skype in the Classroom - Communicate with other classrooms from around the world!
- PREZI – Learn the newest method of designing exciting presentations!
- PODCASTS – You and your students can upload Podcasts to your website!
- Video-Editing – Learn to create quick and easy videos!
- Google Docs – Work collaboratively online with real-time creation and editing of word documents, presentations, spreadsheets and surveys!
- Poll Everywhere – Use computers and cell phones as “clickers” in your classroom!
- Online Teaching Resources
